EMME'S ISLAND MOMENTS RETURNS in 2012!

Honolulu, Hawaii (January 2012) As the New Year approaches, Emme's Island Moments returns with a series of special TV projects for island audiences. In its first installment of the season, we celebrate 20 years of Hawaii Regional Cuisine and acknowledge its founding chefs. We also pay tribute to the original "Danno", James MacArthur and speak with two classic Hawaii Five-0 stars, Al Harrington and Dennis Chun, who have both appeared in the new Hawaii Five-0 series. Lastly, we profile Iron Chef America Chairman, Mark Dacascos, who also has a lead role in Hawaii Five-0 as the villain Wo Fat.

It's been 20 years since the 12 disciples of Hawaii Regional Cuisine put Hawaii's food on the world map. We catch up with them to see where they are now and how the Hawaii Food and Wine Festival—Hawaii's latest and landmark foodie event—evolved from two decades of food celebrations in the islands.

A year ago, the late James MacArthur—the original 'Danno' from Hawaii Five-0 was honored by close family and friends with celebration services here in Hawaii. We pay tribute to MacArthur and speak exclusively to his wife HB about their life in the islands.

We also talk story with Al Harrington and Dennis Chun, two classic alums who have recurring roles in the new Hawaii Five-0 series. Harrington played Ben Kokua in the original show and is known as "Mamo" in the new series. Chun is the son of the late Kam Fong who was Chinn Ho Kelly in the classic version. Today, Chun appears as Sergeant Duke Lukela on the new Hawaii Five-0.

We first profiled local actor Mark Dacascos in 1994 when he was a breakout actor in Los Angeles. Today, he is the Chairman for Iron Chef, competed on Dancing with the Stars and plays the villainous Wo Fat on the reboot of Hawaii Five-0.
